

I'll show you through my beats
From the cotton fields to the streets
The injustice and unfairness
Of our everlasting and gory mess.

Through the slave trades
To the denunciation parades.

It's bigger than black and white
It's a problem with the whole way of life It can't change overnight
But we gotta start somewhere
I'ma make it count while I'm here.

God is the only man I fear.

1863, Lincoln paved the way for equality
But they were faster to erase the tracks
Than build a society were we leave peacefully
They don't admit cuz they're too proud
But USA wouldn't have shone without us
Think about Smith and Carlos when they went loud
There is no black and white country it's the US.

It's bigger than black and white
It's a problem with the whole way of life
It can't change overnight
But we gotta start somewhere
I'ma make it count while I'm here.

God is the only man I fear.

It's too many mothers that's grieving
They're killing us for no reason
Been going on for too long to get even
Throw us in cages like dogs and hyenas
I went to court and they sent me to prison
While the culprit is in LA sipping sangria.
